EMMA CLIPPINGER

Gardens for Health International

Co-Founded with Julie Carney

2009 Global Fellow

BIG BOLD IDEA

Enable HIV-positive individuals to improve their nutrition and health through low-cost sustainable agriculture practices.

PERSONAL BIO

Emma Clippinger believes that malnutrition need not be a chronic condition, even for those who face poverty and disease. She co-founded Gardens for Health International as a sophomore at Brown University and is honored to serve as the organization's Executive Director.

Organization/Fellow Location

Cambridge, United States

Impact Location

Africa

Rwanda

Organization Structure

Nonprofit

VISIT WEBSITE ↗