BIG BOLD IDEA

Challenge the traditional debt-bearing higher education model by introducing an apprenticeship-based education program to elevate workforce potential around the globe.

ORGANIZATION OVERVIEW

Enstitute is unlocking a new, low-cost model of higher education with an apprenticeship based "Learn by Doing" program that turns startups and small businesses into classrooms while pairing students with their passion. Enstitute works with the best entrepreneurs and innovators to educate tomorrow's workforce, revitalize economies, and transform lives through entrepreneurship focused education. Enstitute aims to educate 500,000 students by 2025.

PERSONAL BIO

Kane Sarhan is the 26 year old co-founder of Enstitute, where he is reinventing higher education through apprenticeships with the best entrepreneurs in the world. Previously, he launched and ran the magazine The College Gossip Chronicles, raised over $100,000 for hackNY, a New York City nonprofit, and was the Creative Director at LocalResponse, a tech startup specializing in social media marketing. Kane is a Frances Hesselbein Next Leader of the Future Award recipient, was named one of the "Top 25 under 25" in technology by Business Insider, and is the New York Ambassador to Sandbox.
