

MELVIN YEE

Wage Justice Center

Co-Founded with Matthew Sirolly

2007 Global Fellow

BIG BOLD IDEA

Protect the economic rights of thousands of poor workers by enforcing the collection of unpaid wages and creating a permanent enforcement mechanism for wage rights.

ORGANIZATION OVERVIEW

The Wage Justice Center works to provide a systematic solution to protect the basic economic rights of workers and enforce the collection of the approximately $50 million in unpaid wages by these employers. The Center's unique approach of enforcing judgments and creating a permanent enforcement mechanism for wage rights contributes to the growing national movement of organizations that combat the systemic inequality facing America's poorest workers. Using elements of commercial law, debtor-creditor law, corporation's law, trusts/estates law and bankruptcy law, the Wage Justice Center, in its first three years, collected more than $800,000 in funds owed to low-income workers and provided assistance to hundreds of workers.

PERSONAL BIO

Founding Director, Matthew Sirolly attended the Gould School of Law at the University of Southern California in Los Angeles.

Organization/Fellow Location

Glendale, United States

Impact Location

North America

United States

Organization Structure

Nonprofit

VISIT WEBSITE ➔

